DROPOUTS AND POORLY PREPARED STUDENTS NEGATIVELY AFFECT THE ECONOMY

- Nearly 5,800 students did not graduate from Idaho's high schools in 2010; the lost lifetime earnings in Idaho for that class of dropouts alone total over $1.5 billion.¹
- Idaho could save as much as $45.3 million in health care costs over the lifetimes of each class of dropouts had they earned their diplomas.²
- If Idaho's high schools graduated all of their students ready for college, the state could save as much as $6.5 million a year in community college remediation costs and lost earnings.³
- Idaho's economy could see a combination of crime-related savings and additional revenue of about $21.2 million each year if the male high school graduation rate increased by just 5 percent.⁴

BUILDING AND USING COMPREHENSIVE STATE DATA SYSTEMS ARE CRITICAL TO DRIVING IMPROVEMENT

- Idaho has in place 3 of the 10 elements recommended by the Data Quality Campaign (DQC) as the start of a robust P–12 longitudinal data system. To date, only 12 states have all 10 elements in place.¹⁰
- Idaho has in place 0 of the 10 fundamental steps recommended by the DQC in order to change the culture around how data is used to inform decisions on improving system and student performance. To date, no states have taken all of the fundamental steps.¹⁰

OVER THREE QUARTERS OF STATES HAVE ADOPTED COMMON CORE STATE STANDARDS

Idaho is one of 48 states that participated in the development of common core state standards in English language arts and math. It adopted the standards in November 2010.

NEARLY HALF OF THE NATION'S DROPOUTS ARE CONCENTRATED IN LESS THAN 2,000 HIGH SCHOOLS

These high schools have an extremely low promoting power of 60 percent or less, meaning that only 60 percent or fewer of freshman progress to senior year on time. Promoting power is a good estimate of the school's graduation rate. Generally, these schools have high proportions of minority and/or low-income students.

An additional 6 high schools in Idaho have a promoting power between 60 and 70 percent.¹⁵

Over one third of the nation's low-promoting-power high schools were identified as making Adequate Yearly Progress during SY 2006–07.¹⁶
